REDWOOD TO VOTE ON TUESDAY

Three Councilmen To Be Elected; Four Bond Issues

A big vote is expected next Monday, when the electors of Redwood City go to the polls and cast their ballots for three councilmen and at the same time vote on the $55,000 bond issue submitted by the council board for constructing new concrete bridges and for carrying out other improvements vital to the development of the city.

The terms of office of three members of the council board expires this year—Mayor Henry A. Beeger, William J. Dusel and Charles G. Hildebrandt. All three are candidates to succeed themselves, and their reelection by overwhelming majorities is being freely predicted. The people of Redwood City are apparently well satisfied with the businesslike manner in which the affairs of the city have been conducted under the new charter form of government and they will not want to make any change in the present administration, which has been functioning so harmoniously, especially in view of the fact that many important problems in connection with municipal development and improvement must be met and solved during the next few years.

Mayor Beeger is completing his eighth year of splendid service in the capacity of city councilman; William J. Dusel was elected last year with Paul A. McCarthy when the new charter was adopted, and Charles G. Hildebrandt was named later to fill the vacancy on the board caused by the resignation of Councilman Edward Dearborn. The two new councilmen, both business men of ability, have proven themselves valuable members of the board and have given their services faithfully and unselfishly in the interest of Redwood City.

So well satisfied were the people of Redwood City with the present administration that only one person could be induced to oppose Councilmen Beeger, Dusel and Hildebrandt for re-election next Monday. The lone opposing candidate is F. A. Sanders, auto top and glass man on Main street, and who has been in business here for the past several years.

People Urged To Vote
Sentiment apparently is strongly in favor of the bonds. The people realize the urgent need of the improvement as called for in their various issues submitted by the council board, and it is expected that the bonds will carry by a big vote unless there is too much apathy on the part of the electors. A two-thirds majority is required, which

KIWANIANS SHOWN RAPID SYSTEMS OF CALCULATING

Alfred I. Levett of Palo Alto, was the speaker at the meeting of the Redwood City Kiwanis club Wednesday, his subject being rapid calculation. The speaker illustrated some radically different methods of performing calculations, and showed how his simplified methods may be used in addition, multiplication, division or subtraction.

The chairman of the meeting was Louis A. Behrens. The club accepted as a new member City Manager E. A. Rollison. The city manager was introduced to the club by Mayor Henry Beeger and was officially welcomed by John Gill, district trustee of the club.

Considerable fun was enjoyed at the expense of the Stanford men of the club who were presented with tiny axes to commemorate the recapture by Stanford of its historic ax which had been held at the University of California for 31 years.

means that for every vote against the projects, two must be cast in their favor.

The Chamber of Commerce, service clubs and various improvement clubs and other organizations have endorsed the bond issues and have pledged their support in getting the voters to the polls next Monday.

The projects to be voted on are the construction of several new concrete bridges and a number of other ones to replace present inadequate wooden bridges in various parts of the city; the construction of storm sewers, drainage channels and street openings. The electors will vote on four separate propositions, but all are equally vital to the welfare and development of Redwood City and should equally receive the consideration of the voters.

In addition to the urgent need of these improvements, the city council in asking the people of Redwood City to vote the bonds this year is following out the suggestion and complying with the request of President Hoover to carry out as much municipal, county, state and federal work as possible in order to assist in relieving the serious labor situation that has threatened the country the past six months.

Eight Voting Precincts
The city has been divided into eight precincts for the election Monday. The location of the polling places are as follows:

- No. 1. Frank Larrouy's garage, Marshall street, between Winslow and Hamilton streets.
- No. 2. George Eikenkotter's residence, 408 Stambaugh street.
- No. 3. Casserotto building, Woodside Road and Oxford street.
- No. 4. William Schlimf residence, 467 Lincoln avenue.
- No. 5. D. E. Moore residence, 157 Jackson street.
- No. 6. James S. Irving residence, 228 Fulton street.
- No. 7. Redwood City Woman's Club house, Clinton street.
- No. 8. Walter Realty Office, El Camino Real and Wellesley avenue.

Buy At Home Plea Denied In Burlingame

Attack On J. Hearne Unfair Claim Retailers

Whether James Hearne, president of the Redwood City Retailers, when he spoke before the board of supervisors of this county, Monday, demanding that all county purchases be either made from merchants of this county or billed through them, represented the Burlingame Chamber of Commerce, or not, appears to be a matter of considerable argument.

Hearne appeared before the board and made his request, stating that he represented the chamber of commerce of Burlingame. Following the appearance of this story in the newspapers of the county, the Burlingame Chamber of Commerce issued a denial of Hearne's authority to represent that organization. In its denial the Burlingame body said in part:

"The Burlingame Chamber of Commerce is at all times interested in stimulating business among San Mateo county business firms, and with this thought in mind a committee was appointed at the request of the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce to make a study of the possibilities of having more county purchases made through San Mateo county firms.

"No official authority was given to Mr. James P. Hearne by our representatives to represent our organization before the board of supervisors. On Friday, April 4, our representatives held a meeting for the purpose of establishing the policy of our chamber of commerce on this matter.

"A meeting was held in San Mateo on Thursday, April 3, at which time a small group of merchants from San Mateo county was present. Representatives from the Burlingame Chamber of Commerce attended this meeting.

"We believe the county purchasing agent should buy as economically and efficiently as possible just as a purchasing agent should for any firm or corporation, regardless of where he buys. All things being equal, we believe the county purchasing agent should buy his supplies in San Mateo county, but if he can serve the interests of the taxpayers better by buying elsewhere, he should do so."

This action on the part of the Burlingame body brought forth the following reply issued on Wednesday, by the Redwood City Retailers, and sent to the Burlingame Chamber of Commerce by Milton Hinds, secretary of the local organization:

"At a special meeting of the directors of the Redwood City Retailers a vote was passed, deeply resenting the action taken by the Burlingame chamber of commerce in stating that our president, James P. Hearne, had no authority to represent them before the board of supervisors on Monday, April 7, when the county purchase plan was presented to them.

"Your chamber appointed a committee to officially represent you at the meeting of merchants held on Thursday, April 3, at San Mateo. After a lengthy discussion the document representing the case of the county merchants was unanimously approved of and it was also the unanimous decision of the representatives of the different chambers present that it was the proper procedure to approach the supervisors of the San Mateo county on Monday, April 7, and the said document representing the worthy cause of the county merchants be read by the chairman of the joint committees. It was understood that the representatives of the Burlingame chamber of commerce, who were represented at this meeting, had full authority to act in this matter. We were not advised of any further action by your chamber prior to our meeting with the supervisors contrary to this approved plan. Consequently, President Hearne has been unduly attacked by your chamber in this matter.

"We await your early correction of the above."

PET AND HOBBY SHOW

The local Yomean Club will hold a Pet and Hobby show, on Saturday afternoon, April 26, at the McKinley grammar school. The show will consist of exhibitions of pets and articles made and collected by the boys and girls of Redwood City and vicinity.

Any boy or girl in the grammar schools of Redwood City and vicinity is eligible to exhibit any pet, article, or collection which he wishes. Each exhibitor must pay an entry fee of 10 cents which will be sufficient for any number of articles which he wishes to display.

Pets of any nature may be shown as well as woodwork, art work, needlework, models, Indiancraft, stamps, coins and articles of natural history. Every boy and girl is invited to attend.

OVERCONFIDENCE

Proposals for progress are seldom lost because they have not been favored by enough persons. Such proposals have, however, been lost because so many people favored them that they were considered safe and those who did favor them failed to go to the polls and state their belief on a ballot.

Next Monday the people of Redwood City will be called upon to decide an important question: Whether or not the City of Redwood shall issue bonds to the amount $55,000 for some important improvements. Nearly everyone seems to be in favor of these bonds, but this fact should not result in those who do favor them losing sight of their responsibility to vote.

These bond issues, four in number, form altogether a complete plan for improvement. These improvements are vital to the proper development of various sections of Redwood City. They will care for adequate storm sewers on El Camino Real, and relieve a situation which in winter time is a disgrace to our city. They will provide for the replacement of several wooden bridges with modern concrete ones, and in doing this will save the city a large amount annually spent in the upkeep of the present wooden bridges.

One of the features of the bond issue will be a concrete bridge to connect Warwick street in Wellesley Park with San Carlos, thus linking two rapidly developing residential sections which are now completely divided between the highway and the Alameda de las Pulgas, a distance of more than a mile. Half of the cost of the bridge is to be paid by San Carlos.

The City Council in placing these propositions on the ballot has drawn attention to the fact that all four of the proposed bond issues form a part of a complete program. They are listed as four separate issues, because legal technicalities require this. But all four issues are a part of one plan, and it is to the interest of Redwood City that all four receive the necessary two-thirds vote required for their passage.

Just as this paper feels that it is important to vote for these necessary improvements, it feels that it will be to the best interests of the city to maintain in office the men who have had so great a part in planning the proposed improvements and the many already completed. At the polls next Monday the people will be called upon to vote for three councilmen. Three of the candidates are members of the present board, and have had a share in planning the program of improvements now under way. All three men have shown themselves well worthy of the trust which the people of Redwood City have shown in them, and deserve a hearty vote in recognition of their valuable services to this city.

A vote for Henry Beeger, William Dusel and Charles Hildebrandt will help to continue the present progressive, sane, trustworthy government, which has guided the destiny of this city since the charter form of government was inaugurated, and a vote for the bonds will assist the councilmen in carrying out these developments.

Be Kind To Animals Anniversary Plans

Members of the humane societies throughout the United States are preparing for the observance of "Be Kind to Animals," anniversary, April 21 to 27, 1930, with Humane Sunday, on the closing day, April 27. Committees have been named in each city and the campaign is well under way to focus public attention upon humane work during that time.

Matthew McCurrie, secretary of the San Francisco Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, yesterday made an appeal to the clergymen of all denominations in Northern California to preach sermons on the subject of kindness to animals on Sunday, April 27, and announced that material for the preparation of sermons would be furnished by the San Francisco Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals to any clergyman upon receipt of a postcard at its office, 2500-16th street, San Francisco.

The movement to observe one week each year as "Be Kind to Animals" anniversary is fostered by the American Humane Association, the national federation of humane societies, at Albany, New York, and the association is making unusual efforts to have the celebration universal this year.

The committee for Northern California is composed of seventeen members, each of whom is directing the work in their locality. All are anxious to communicate with any one willing to help in the very splendid work.

The committee members are: Matthew McCurrie, San Francisco; Mrs. M. E. Hanlon, Chico; Mrs. W. R. Chesley, Colusa; Miss E. H. Thompson, Marin County; Miss Olive Cramm, Petaluma; Mrs. Susan Wells, Santa Cruz; H. J. Winters, Sacramento; Mrs. G. F. Wakefield, San Jose; Mrs. W. B. Westlake, Vallejo; Isaac Lester, Richmond; Mrs. Mabel A. Smith, Ukiah; Walter Osborn, Bakersfield; Mrs. V. R. McAlpine, Gilroy; Mrs. F. Thomas, Palo Alto; Dr. J. W. Bell, Fresno; Miss Yetta Bull, Eureka; Mrs. S. C. Moulthrop, Redwood City.

The officers of the Redwood City chapter of the organization, which is co-operating in this anniversary are: Mrs. L. Otzen, president; Mrs. Robert Klassen, vice-president; Mrs. C. D. Jessup, treasurer; Mrs. S. C. Moulthrop, secretary.

While returning from Santa Maria, where they had been with their brother, Caleb Bement, who passed away Tuesday, Mrs. Claud Fox and Miss Mary Bement, were injured in an accident. They were in a bus with 16 passengers. Near King City one tire blew out throwing the bus into a ditch. All passengers suffered slight injuries. Mrs. Fox escaped without serious injuries, but her sister suffered shock and severe bruises.

Plans Complete For Observance Of School Week

Program Is Arranged To Take Place On April 23

Plans have been completed for a program of unusual observance to feature Redwood City's observance of Public Schools Week, beginning on April 21. Redwood City will hold a program in the auditorium of the McKinley school, on the evening of April 23. The speaker of the evening will be Dr. Robert of the San Francisco State Normal school.

Other features arranged for this occasion are a play to be given by children of the elementary schools, musical numbers by the high school orchestra, club songs by each of the sponsoring organizations. Wilbur Dooxee, president of the Exchange club, will act as chairman of the evening.

The program in Redwood City is being sponsored by the Sequoia Union High School, Redwood City Lodge of Masons, Kiwanis Club, Exchange Club, Lions Club and the Yomean Club.

Arrangements for the event have been made by a committee consisting of A. C. Argo, Eastland Britton, John Gill, Carroll Hall, Norman Menefee and William Curran.

The co-operation of the American Legion of California has been pledged to Public Schools Week, by Clarence L. Kincaid, department commander of the Legion, in a letter to Charles Albert Adams, chairman of the State committee for the week.

In his pledge of co-operation Commander Kincaid said:

"You may depend upon our complete and wholehearted support in this movement. We of the American Legion are deeply interested in every movement which has as its objective the furtherance of the public school educational system.

"You are doing a splendid work in this connection and if we can be of any further assistance to you do not hesitate to command us."

Henry Potts Heads De Molay Chapter

Henry Potts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Potts, of this city, was elected master counselor of the Redwood Chapter, Order of De Molay, at the regular meeting of the chapter, Tuesday evening. He will succeed Darrell Tate in that office. The office of senior counselor was filled by the election of Walter Kellogg, Jr.; that of junior counselor, by the election of Norman Biber.

In addition to these officers, the following appointive officers will constitute the official body of the chapter:

Carl Mable, senior deacon; Charles Merrill, Jr., junior deacon; Nathan King, senior steward; Fred Steen, junior steward; Fred Dodd, chaplain; Clarence Mullen, marshal; Roger Litner, standard bearer; Fred Musso, Jr., almoner; Delos Davis, sentinel; Pearl Allen first preceptor; Elmer Steinke, second preceptor; Ernest Bevilacqua, third preceptor; John Christ, fourth preceptor; Edward Potts, fifth preceptor; Glen Stoner, sixth preceptor, and Russell Brooks, seventh preceptor.

At the same meeting three new members were received into the order. They were Milton Cavalli, Joel Mansfield and Howard Keplinger.

A number of the members of the local chapter are now in attendance at the convention of the order being held in Eureka. Those at the convention are Henry Potts, Walter Kellogg, Jr., Ernest Bevilacqua, Nathan King, Richard Chilcott, Merlyn Stokes, Larry Heiner, Roger Litner and Truman Letts.

Relative of Local People Passes Away

Word was received Wednesday by Mrs. C. H. Stevens of the death in Chicago of her brother, H. H. Geselbracht, who passed away early that morning. Mr. Geselbracht was the father of Mrs. J. R. Fox of this city, who has been in Chicago for the past two weeks to his serious illness.

In addition to his sister here, Mr. Geselbracht is survived by a brother, Franklin H. Geselbracht and four sisters, Miss Catherine Geselbracht, Mrs. T. L. Miller, Dr. Willis Hall and Mrs. E. B. Gould. He was a well-known wholesale grocer of Chicago.

Mr. Adolph Sandman, representative of a Holland export house and whose home is in Germany, has been visiting his cousin, County Purchasing Agent Ernest H. Werder, and other relatives in this city this week. Mr. Sandman is enroute to New York from his annual business trip to China, Manila and other countries. He formerly resided in Redwood City.

Crowds Attend Tanforan Races

Unusual success has crowned the meeting staged at Tanforan race track by the Pacific Coast Breeders Association, thus far, attendance reports indicating that nearly 25,000 persons have gathered there during the first week of the 13-day meeting. The races got off to a fine start last Saturday when an inaugural crowd of some 10,000 gathered in the stands to welcome the return of the sport kings to California.

Every day this week the attendance has kept up to an unusual point, indicating the great interest in horse racing still prevailing against great odds. The association has received thousands of compliments upon the conduct of the meeting, the fine horses, the keen contests and the orderly crowds. San Bruno police, preserving order at the track, reports that there has been no disorder of any kind.

Persons prominent in every walk of life have attended the races and judging from the enthusiasm displayed, are more than favorably impressed with the meeting. Floral pieces and verbal compliments have been offered as impressive testimony to the high regard in which the meeting is held.

Despite the record crowd of last Saturday, indications are that the attendance then will be greatly exceeded at the meeting tomorrow (Saturday) when some of the finest horseflesh on the American turf will compete in the various cards.

Principal of the events tomorrow (Saturday) will be the Norfolk Handicap in which such horses as Golden Prince, Alexander Pantages and Eskimo will step up to the barrier in an event that promises to be second only to the Kentucky Derby. Golden Prince will be remembered as the winner of Goffroth Handicap at Augua Caliente Eskimo is one of Norman W. Church's most prized mounts, and has given an unusually good account of himself on the American turf.

Alexander Pantages ran away with the Agua Caliente cup race, the closing feature of the Mexico tracks spring meeting. Pantages is considered by turfmen to be a horse of great qualifications. Naishapur and Jim Dandy, of the Chaffee Earl Wilshire stables, arrived at the track this week and are being put into form. Either may be entered in Saturday's feature card. Naishapur carried off the Tia Juana Derby and Derby. Jim Dandy came into fame back East when he came on to win a Saratoga feature at great odds. He is in training now for the next Kentucky Derby, being an eligible candidate.

This week the association announced that the paying of second money on options would be abandoned in order that first money might be very considerably increased. This met with great favor among the fans. The greatest odds yet paid were those on Enthusiastic, who stepped up to take one of the inaugural features at $115 to $5, and repeated during the week at $42 to $5.

Ample parking space is available in the grounds at Tanforan for any number of cars. Despite the great crowd of last Saturday the field was practically clear 15 minutes after the last race.

Former Resident Dies in South

Caleb N. Bement, formerly a well-known resident of this city, passed away Wednesday at his home in Santa Maria. He was the husband of Mrs. Beatrice Bement and father of Miss Madeline Bement.

Two sisters, Mrs. Claud Fox and Miss Mary Bement of this city survive. Mr. Bement was a member of a pioneer family of this county. He was born 68 years ago on a farm which occupied the floor of the valley which is now San Andreas lake, one of the Spring Valley lakes. His brother, William Bement, for many years conducted a blacksmith business here.

Funeral services will be held at Mt. Olivet cemetery.

U. S. CENSUS HALF TAKEN IN REDWOOD

Crew of Six Finding Enumeration Big Undertaking

The crew of six enumerators who are taking the census of Redwood City have just about completed half of their task. The census taking began last Tuesday and it is expected that it will be completed within the allotted two weeks. Census enumerators here have expressed themselves as well pleased with the co-operation afforded them by the people of Redwood City.

The enumerators are paid a flat sum for each family registered, and receive no extra compensation when they find it necessary to call several times at a house in order to secure the needed information. Therefore, to have all the necessary answers ready when the enumerator calls, is a decided help to the person making the canvass; it also assures a speedy and complete census of this city. Anyone desiring information concerning the census can secure it from L. A. Heiner by calling the office of the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce.

The census is being taken here by six enumerators; each assigned to a district for whose enumeration he or she is responsible.

The census-takers are Mrs. James D. Hedge, Mrs. Grace Hartstough, Mrs. A. W. Tate, Miss M. Deeny, L. A. Heiner, and Jerome McDonald. Dr. W. C. Bailey of San Jose is supervisor of the census for this district, including the counties of San Mateo, Santa Clara, San Benito, Santa Cruz and Monterey.

Talk On Steel Given Exchange Club

An interesting talk on the manufacture of steel was given before the members of the Redwood City Exchange Club Tuesday evening. The speaker was John Stetter, engineer of the Pacific Coast Steel Corporation. The chairman of the meeting was Colin Stokes, who is also connected with the steel corporation. Merlyn Stokes, son of the chairman, sang several numbers, accompanied at the piano by Kendall Towne.

An interesting autobiography was given by Alfred Robertson. Members of the club who had attended the University of California were presented with tiny axes to commemorate the loss by the U. of C. of the Stanford ax.

Congregational Church Men Hold Ladies Night Tuesday

The men of the First Congregational Church were hosts at a "Ladies Night" held in the parlors of the church last Tuesday evening. The following program was carried out:

Selections by the Sunday school orchestra, under the direction of Clifton H. Woodhams.

Reading of several of his own poems by Rev. Mr. Bone of Menlo Park.

Recitations of James Whitcomb Riley's poems by C. M. Dooxee.

Selections by male quartette composed of Messrs. Browne, Dodge, McKenzie and Wilbur Dooxee.

Vocal solos by Pierce Coombes, accompanied by Mrs. Coombes.

At 8:30, through the courtesy of the Peninsula Radio Co., who provided a radio, "Amos and Andy" were enjoyed, and afterwards three of the men, Clifton Woodhams, Bert Werder and Wesley Haydock, put on an imitation of the two famous comedians and the announcer, which caused a lot of fun for those present.

Following the program the guests enjoyed a splendid supper that was cooked and served by the men.

CALIFORNIA NEWS REVIEW

A buoy temporarily replacing the old San Pedro entrance light has been installed at Los Angeles harbor by the Lighthouse service of the Chamber of Commerce. The buoy shows a flashing red light every five seconds, at an elevation of twelve feet above the water line.

Westbound cargo in the Gulf trade is moving in the heaviest volume ever experienced by the Luckenbach Steamship Line. The last three vessels of the line clearing for the Pacific Coast from New York have also shown decided increases in business. Eastbound traffic is also running stronger.

San Jose will be the starting point and the finish point for a cross-country bicycle race to start June 1 in preparation of the 1930 Olympic games. It was announced by J. M. Silvey, manager of the San Jose Chamber of Commerce. Bicycle riders from all parts of the country will participate in the event, according to Mr. Silvey.

Was Salinas Valley once a grazing land for herds of bison? Fred Brunken, a farmer, believes such was the case. While digging a 250-foot water well on his ranch, a half-mile north of Salinas, he uncovered three large teeth, which R. A. Stearns, curator of the paleontology, University of California, declared were the lower molars of a bison.

Work on the new sewer system in Northeastern Vallejo is ready to go forward. The Solano County supervisors have given their approval to the plans and specifications drawn by Engineer George Wiles. A resolution granting consent and approval was passed by the Vallejo City Council, and an ordinance appropriating $30,526.48 as the city's share of the work was adopted.

Directors of the Fresno County Chamber of Commerce went on record as favoring passage of the Leavitt bill, providing for the appropriation of funds for building approach roads to national parks. California representatives in Congress will be urged to vote for the bill in telegraphic dispatches sent by the chamber.

Will H. Henderson, assistant for a number of years to Luther Burbank, has announced from his experimental gardens in Fresno County the perfecting of a new scented gladiolus. Unlike its parent flower, a wild flora, Henderson's new blossom is richly perfumed day and night. The parent blossom only gave forth perfume in the daytime. Henderson has also perfected a number of new roses and other blossoms.

The historic Hotel Vendome at San Jose, for decades one of the finest hotels of that region, has been sold. A syndicate of San Joseans has purchased the hotel, and it will be wrecked immediately. The price was about $125,000. The Vendome stands in the midst of an elaborate park, and this park will be subdivided into building lots. Those forming the syndicate are Leonard P. Edwards, W. H. Bentley, J. D. Chace, Paul Lion, M. J. Rankin, W. C. Losse and the James A. Clayton Company.

A scenic boulevard, which would rise from San Jose to the summit of Mount Hamilton, circle the Lick Observatory and then continue into the San Joaquin Valley, is being proposed by the San Jose Chamber of Commerce and several San Joaquin chambers of commerce. The road would be a definite asset to both valleys, according to local proponents, knitting both valleys together with an artery that would have not only scenic but commercial value.

What to do with the spring cleaning rubbish is simple in California mission days. It was all put into bricks! Straw, grass, fruit pits, grape seeds, leather scraps, horse hair and bones have been found in the mission walls, it was announced by Professor George Hendry and Margaret Kelly, graduate student of the University of California, following exhaustive experiments at twelve missions. There were even human bones, believed to have come from shallow graves at San Vicente Mission, where hundreds were buried after an epidemic.

Elimination of the death curve at Union Schoolhouse crossing at which several motorists have been killed in the past few years will be accomplished this summer, according to J. A. Bumgarner, county engineer. The old river road, along Pacific Heights, is being widened and graded and when put to use will provide a river level highway without dangerous crossings.

Plans were announced at Marysville for a Samento Valley Land Show to be held in mid-September. Sutter and Yuba County farm boards of directors are endorsing the exhibition, but Butte, Colusa and other Sacramento Valley counties will be invited to participate. Present plans call for holding the show in large tents.

By a vote of 82 to 44 the voters of Alameda County water district approved a bond issue of $250,000 for the purchase from the East Bay municipal utility district of pumping rights at Alvarado. It was announced by Chris Runkel, secretary of the district.

A hearing on a petition to dissolve the W. L. White Realty Company, with headquarters at the Tagus ranch, four miles north of Tulare, was set for April 28 by Judge J. A. Allen at Superior Court in Visalia. The firm is headed by Hulett C. Merritt, millionaire of Pasadena, who also owns the Tagus ranch. It is capitalized at $25,000.

The State veteran's welfare board has a legal right to buy a former service man's equity in a home he has secured through State aid and then resell the residence to another eligible veteran. Attorney General U. S. Webb approved such procedure in a ruling to George M. Stott, board secretary.

More than 35,000 applications for farm and home aid were on file with the Veterans' Welfare Board. Of this record number, 14 per cent of the applications were from veterans who were wounded or disabled as a result of wartime service, reported John R. Quinn, director of military affairs.

There's $10 more in the treasury of Company B. One Hundred and Eighty-fourth Infantry, today, because neither of two members made good their bet. Corporal Joe Nardinelli and Corporal Carl Edson each put up $5 and agreed that the one who failed to bring in a recruit at the next meeting would forfeit. There were no recruits.

James F. Collins, director of the state department of professional and vocational standards, issued a warning to members of all contracting firms licensed and doing business that their license certificate covers only the co-partnership as such and cannot be used by members of the co-partnership operating as individuals.

The Tracy American Legion's second annual air show is to be held May 24 and 25 at the airport three miles south of Tracy. William A. Johnson, president of the airport, announced. Mr. Johnson said that the show is to embrace such maneuvers as dead stick landings, formation flying, aerial stunts and parachute jumps. Gliders are to be a feature of the show with prizes offered for distance flights. Cash prizes are expected to total more than $1000.

Dunsmuir, nestled among pine-clad mountains, might be transformed by architectural and landscaping experts into a typical Swiss Alpine village. It has been suggested by Robert Hazel, local theater manager. He pointed out that the project would provide an attraction to thousands of tourists in addition to those who come to hunt and fish.

The last train has run over the 32-mile narrow gauge branch line of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad between Point Reyes and Monte Rio. Residents and rural merchants fought against abandonment of the line in vain. Authorization to discontinue the branch was given to the railroad by the Interstate Commerce Commission, which held that its operation was causing a heavy loss. Point Reyes will henceforth have to depend upon automobile stages for transportation.

Salt Water Barrier Association of California, Inc., announcing plans to create public sentiment in favor of a salinity control barrier across San Francisco bay, filed incorporation papers at the Capitol. The association said it will co-operate with existing agencies working for realization of the barrier and intend to promote research to give the public authentic information about the project and its importance to the future development of the State.

The fingerprint section of the State Bureau of Criminal Identification received and searched more records during the month of February than ever before in the history of the bureau. James A. Johnston, director of the Department of Penology, reported to Governor Young. The total number of prints received was 6987, of which 1781 were discarded and the balance filed.

Appointment of three additional traffic officers to the Marin County squad of the state highway patrol was announced by Captain Al O'Connor. Those named are Deputy Sheriff I. A. Carbone of San Rafael, former chief of police at Ross; Thomas H. Wentworth of Corte Madera, former traffic officer at Larkspur; and Raymond E. Dwyer of Larkspur. With these men, Captain O'Connor will have eight officers patrolling the highways.

Permanent trustees will take over the ownership of the property and buildings of the sanitarium of the Christian Science Benevolent Association for the Pacific Coast. The sanitarium will open its doors to guests about the middle of May. The new institution, known as Arden Wood, is located on a sixteen-acre tract of rolling, timbered land, west of Twin Peaks, San Francisco, and sheltered from the wind by the hills. No roads cross the property and a series of winding paths is being developed. The trustees are Mrs. Gertrude M. Glass, George D. Greenwood and Marvin R. Higgins.

Wilson D. Clark is manager-secretary. Members of the joint legislative aviation committee of California will make a tour of all supervised airports in the state to survey the problems of the industry and study views of citizens in airport districts. This was decided at a recent meeting of the joint committee, and Assemblyman Roy Bishop of Alameda and Assemblyman Robert B. Fry and Melvin I. Cronin of San Francisco were named in charge of the arrangements.

An outlay of $35,000 from the county road fund to apply on the cost of constructing a portion of the coast highway in San Mateo County was recommended to the finance committee of the Board of Supervisors. The Board of Supervisors of San Mateo County requested the city and county of San Francisco to advance $100,000 in accordance with a pledge previously made. This amount was not available at the time, according to Supervisor James Power, chairman of the streets committee, and the smaller appropriation will be recommended. If the appropriation is approved, the money, together with funds from San Mateo and Santa Clara Counties will be used to construct a roadway around Pedro Mountain.

If, perchance, you damage a fender or bumper of a parked automobile, leave your name and address on the vehicle telling its owner how it happened and where he can find you. The law requires the offending driver find the owner of the damaged machine or, failing this, to leave his name and address on the vehicle, also to notify the police of the accident within 24 hours.

Justices of the peace have no authority in summoning convicts to court as witnesses in civil trials, Attorney General U. S. Webb ruled in an opinion delivered to Court Smith, warden of Folsom penitentiary.

Registration of 1,699,069 automobiles was on books of the state division of motor vehicles last week. This record auto registration, along with 117,805 trucks, motorcycles and trailers, brought in total fees of $7,872,462. It was reported to Governor Young by Frank Snook, chief of the division of motor vehicles. "These figures indicate that total registration this year will surpass that of 1929," Snook declared. Reports were also submitted showing that California's augmented highway patrol covered 465,280 miles during the past month, a record mileage covered in the patrol.

Historic France

Vista Along the Midi Canal.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

A CROSS southern France, where floods recently devastated a large area, lie the Lateral and Midi canals, connecting the Atlantic and the Mediterranean. A unique sightseeing trip through this delightful country can be made along these waterways in a canoe.

The start is made at Bordeaux. With its almost six miles of wharfage, it is among the few big ports which have troubled to beautify their water fronts. Its broad, quay-paralleling promenade, there a public park, and a towering pair of columns dedicated to Commerce and Navigation, illustrates for the benefit of many another slummy waterfront how sea-freighting may bring beauty out of business.

From Bordeaux for 25 miles the Garonne river forms the waterway. The Lateral canal starts at Castets, and parallels the river to Toulouse. Though navigation hasn't usually much to do with hills and dales, that landman's phrase aptly describes a canal trip. The 230-mile waterway which stretches from near Bordeaux to the Mediterranean—that is, the conjoined routes of the Lateral and the Midi canals—is regulated by 118 locks. These give a 620-foot drop on either side of Castelnau, the highest intermediate point.

Thus, the canoe voyager goes "up-hill" to Castelnau, then "down dale" to the Mediterranean, averaging 10 1/2 feet of ascent or descent each time he passes a lock.

Beautiful Country. The Lateral canal leads through a smiling countryside of gently rippling hills and of close cultivation, with tobacco plantations and vineyards alternating. Regiments of staked vines align themselves across the fields at the queerest of angles, a planting system aimed at securing the maximum exposure of sunlight.

Here and there some picturesque village, its fifteenth-century houses dominated by a ruined donjon, mirrors itself in the Garonne.

The canal and its river feeder parallel each other for 120 miles, and it is but a short stroll whenever one wants a glimpse of the latter. Their courses intersect at Agen. One suddenly finds himself cruising between two seemingly endless walls of masonry, and the scenery begins to drop out of sight. First the trees, then the dim hillsides, sink disquietingly away into neither space. It is the canal-carrying aqueduct, which floats barge traffic high in air across the wide valley of the Garonne.

Prehistoric Neighborhood. From Agen an interesting pilgrimage can be made to Les Eyzies' grottoes where can be seen the habitations of Pleistocene man. It was in the early sixties that Les Eyzies' grottoes yielded finds of flint and horn implements, human skeletons, and bones of extinct animals. Subsequently these formed a basis for calculating the chronology of the Stone age.

Between the rude representations of animals, scratched by primitive man on his cave's walls, and the art which caused Moissac's cloister columns to bloom with flowerlike beauty, lies all the mystery of the timeless miracle of mental evolution.

Long before one enters the Canal du Midi at Toulouse, one realizes how well named is France's "Midi." This is the French word for midday. In summer and autumn it is a country of withering heat, shuttered houses, white roads, and dust-covered foliage, under a brilliant, cloudless sky.

Toulouse—as for the betraying charm of its name!—sprawls commonplace and discolored-looking, as if depleted by centuries of sunstroke. Of the medieval city that was the seat of a powerful countship and the scene of religious wars, little remains but St. Sernin's Romanesque pile, named for St. Saturninus, who was dragged behind the bull he had refused to sacrifice on Jupiter's altar, to recall Toulouse's architectural past.

Old Custom Retained. With one other exception what the visitor would expect of that high-sounding name is discoverable only in histories.

This exception is the curious spectacle of forty citizen patrons receiving nine gold and silver flowers from La Daurade's high altar, then defiling through Toulouse to award these artificial amaranths, marigolds, and other blossoms in a poetry contest, and finally hymning a eulogy on the festival's reputed founder, Dame Clemence Isaur.

Such is the May day fete of the ancient Academie des Jeux-Floraux. While floral festivals of varying kinds are held at Nice, Cahors, Lyons, Orléans, and in Normandy, Catalonia, and Rhineland, it is only the Toulouse event which represents an unbroken tradition of six centuries' span.

At Toulouse travelers by canal leave the Lateral canal and enter the much older Canal du Midi. Constructed in 1668-1681, this "canal of two seas" represents the earliest step toward the present Atlantic-to-the-Isthme line, beyond that 20-mile route extend the Rhone's northern canal connections whereby barges can travel inland from Bordeaux to French channel ports.

The most recently completed canal link in southern France has opened a Marcellus-to-Calais line. This is 852 miles long, or considerably shorter than the sea route.

The Canal du Midi is not only an important commerce carrier; it is among the most beautiful of French waterways. Immediately beyond Toulouse it traverses a series of woodland vistas, a ceaseless interplay of lights, shadows and reflections, that change with each turn of this endlessly twisting stream.

The Midi canal's picturesque character is due to the magnificent trees which line its banks for more than 100 miles. Here are venerable oak glades, there alleys of plane trees, and yonder spear-straight pines or somber ranks of eypress. Often, indeed, ranks of these different species parallel each other in a multiplied depth of sylvan shelter. The lovely curves and green wealth of foliage are alike due to its planners' method of mitigating, for the benefit of barge traffic, the sweeping winds of the region.

Nothing less than the epithet "fishability" could convey a picture of the Midi's anglers, squatting in endless succession along the canal bank. The approach of boats scarcely stirs them from their piscine dreams.

Land of Troubadours. Beyond Toulouse one has left Gascony behind and is well into Languedoc. Gascony, Languedoc, Provence—names how redolent of history and romance!

For Gascony read Vasconia, and conjure up ghosts of the Basque-speaking Vascons who, in the Sixth century, crossed the Pyrenees and gave their infusion of Spanish blood to the Midi. Earlier still, the region was part of the Roman Aquitania. The name recalls Eleanor of Aquitaine who, at her marriage to Henry of Anjou, later Henry II, dowered the English crown with a goodly portion of southern France.

Languedoc brings to mind that early culture, including rhetoric schools, splendid amphitheatres, and fine temples, upon which successive hordes of barbarians—Vandals, Suevi, and Visigoths—imposed temporary kingdoms. Incidentally contributing to the respective blood strains of the Midi, the Romans named their earliest conquest in Gaul. Yet, far from being what we moderns mean by provincial, this little corner of a country developed, through its Eleventh-century joglars, or professional entertainers in jugglery and in poetry of the local vernacular, an entire "Provençal" literature which influenced southern France, northern Italy and Spain.

From many remote blood strains and from constant transpyrenean infiltrations has sprung up the Midi type—dark-skinned, glowing-eyed, often Sarcenic.

Busy Market-Day Scenes. Castelnau tempts one ashore for that busiest of sights, a market town on market day. One of its leafy squares is reserved for vegetable sellers, a second for poultry and game, and a third for horse dealing. Down one street come cartfuls of huge hamper containing mixed fumes of ducks and rabbits. Down another come peasants bicycling into town, with geese sitting sedately arow in trays attached to the handlebars.

Trade is brisk, and by noon the world with squirming rabbits and cackling chickens under their arms. As for the horse fairs in Rosa Bonheur's native countryside, they are just such animated sights as her famous canvases portray.

Carcassonne, on the Midi canal, is two towns in one. The Cité is completely dissociated from Carcassonne's Ville Basse, or lower town. The former is a steep hill, its crest encircled with mighty walls, hardly less than a mile around, thronged with tall towers showing crenelated tops—the epitome of high-perched, drawbridge-guarded medievalism, profiled against fleecy clouds drifting in the blue.

Famous Carcassonne. For 15 centuries it has stood thus, The Cité of Carcassonne.

Beyond the fact that the Roman empire gave self-government to Carcassonne, as it was then called, and classed it as a "noble" or "elected" city, little of Carcassonne's history emerges until the Fifth century. It was then that the Visigoths fortified this strategic point, which commands half a dozen Pyrenean passes, by erecting the Cité on the ruins of Roman ramparts, utilizing their knowledge of Roman fortifications.

For 1,500 years these fortifications have been accumulating the colobes of history. Here East met West and North met South, in the succession of foreign conquerors who came and went, now besieging the Cité and now modifying it into what was acclaimed by Viollet-le-Duc, its chief restorer, as the most picturesque and most nearly perfect example of a medieval fortress.

STARVING CHICKS IS UNNECESSARY

Experts Find Early Feeding Is Not Harmful.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The popular belief that baby chicks should be starved for the first 48 or 72 hours to prevent bowel trouble has finally given way to scientific knowledge. It is now known that early feeding is not harmful. However, neither does delayed feeding seem to be harmful.

Experiments conducted by Burt W. Heywang and Dr. M. A. Jull, poultry specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture, to determine the effect of early feeding on the absorption of the egg yolk which is usually present in the body of the chick when hatched, show that early feeding actually tends to stimulate slightly the rate of yolk assimilation. Feeding scratch grain caused more rapid assimilation than feeding mash.

As a result of these experiments, Doctor Jull points out, poultry raisers now have unbiased facts to guide them in the management of baby chicks. Under normal conditions the best thing to do is feed them early. If there is some special reason for withholding food for the first two or three days, this can be done without running the risk of stunting the chicks. Baby chicks shipped by parcel post or by express probably should not be fed before being shipped, Doctor Jull says.

Blackhead Evaded by Keeping Poults Alone

To prevent blackhead infection in young turkeys, they should not have chicken or turkey hens as mothers. Even though turkeys are put on a clean range, not infested with blackhead, it is likely that they will get the disease from the mother hen, says J. B. Hayes, University of Wisconsin.

The practice must be avoided by using a new brooder stove for incubator hatched turkeys. A clean range is also necessary, but old birds should not run with the young turkeys, according to Hayes.

By adhering to a strict sanitation program of this kind, Hayes says that blackhead can be evaded, and there should be no more trouble with turkeys than with young chicks.

New England Colleges Formulate Chick Mash

A chick mash formulated at the conference of New England colleges calls for 200 pounds yellow cornmeal, 100 pounds wheat bran, 100 pounds ground oats, 25 pounds meat scrap, 25 pounds fishmeal, 50 pounds dry skim milk, 25 pounds alfalfa leafmeal, 25 pounds edible steamed bone meal, and 5 pounds salt. The dry milk percentage in this mixture is 7 1/2 per cent. This mash becomes the regular laying mash by the addition of 25 pounds of dried milk and the substitution of ground oat groats for ground oats.

Poultry Notes

Feed grain in troughs each day.

Start with chicks from breeding stock of known merit.

Grow chicks separate from old flock so they will not range on same ground.

Goslings cannot live without grass. Dry bread softened in sweet skim milk and pressed quick dry is good for the first feed.

The ration fed the breeding pens should be complete in every way. In addition to protein, carbohydrates and fats, the ration should contain vitamins and minerals.

Nothing will take the place of a well-constructed brooder that is properly operated. Chicks are not worth the effort any more than they are troubleproof. If they are exposed to extremes of heat and cold they will soon be on the sick list.

When ten days old the ducks can be cut down to three or four feedings daily.

A fat breeding hen is not conducive to hatchability in the eggs she produces.

Chickens need minerals both for body maintenance and for shell formation.

Use dependable brooder of proper size for house and number of chicks to be brooded.

Discard all hens which lay very small eggs, since these eggs hatch poorly and produce pullets that lay small eggs.

Scrape floor, sweep walls, scrub with hot lye water and spray with disinfectant before moving house or putting in chicks.

Probably the most satisfactory and certainly the easiest and simplest way to mature and condition pullets is to allow them a good ration and keep them on clean range.

Oyster shell or ground limestone is also necessary. This should be kept before the birds at all times. When these mineral compounds are absent, fewer eggs are produced, and the hatchability of the fertile eggs is decreased.

A nearby creek or pond provides plenty of water when geese can have free access to them, but the lives of young goslings are thereby greatly endangered by turtles, the eating of "pollywogs" and too much wet in general.

A Look into the Future

Suppose a crystal gazer, gifted with the power to lay the future before our eyes, parts the curtains and gives us a glimpse into the future—

Before our eyes unfolds a picture of CONTINUED and INCREASING prosperity for our America—already the most prosperous nation in the world!

An increase of millions of population in the United States.

Transportation systems developed to such a degree that distant rural sections become easily accessible suburbs.

Industry, decentralized from the few congested areas, following the present trend toward the smaller community, closer to raw material, lower overhead, ideal labor conditions.

A healthier, happier race, working shorter hours, taking full value of play hours, yet producing MORE in the shorter working time because of increased efficiency of labor and machinery.

... But enough of the general—the picture changes, and in its place we see the future of OUR OWN COMMUNITY!

Opportunities have been grasped, possibilities realized. Each sees the result of having done his part. WE HAVE BECOME THE ONE OUTSTANDING TOWN IN TEN WITH EVEN A GREATER GOAL BEFORE US!

We have MADE people like us; trade with us; live with us. Not just through HAPPENSTANCE, but because we have made OUR town a better place in which to live than other towns; better schools; better churches; better health conditions; better working conditions; we have made OUR town more beautiful, and have given it a more pleasant personality!

We have made it a BETTER BUSINESS TOWN because we have made people like to come to do business with us. And we have grasped our opportunities as they have been presented to us, and have made our town a good place to earn a living in by bringing industry to it, and by expanding our trade radius.

Through our schools, churches, clubs and business organizations, we have perfected our present policy of making those living outside our corporate limits FEEL THEY ARE A PART OF OUR TOWN, by joining with us in our every community activity.

Property values increased—business better—population doubled.

Community detriments removed; community possibilities improved!

Health, wealth, prosperity for all, because we all did our part!

And from the inspiration of this fleeting glimpse into our future we turn to TODAY and DO our part in the fulfillment of this future for our community!

The past, the present, and the future! We have reviewed the past of our community with respect and reverence for the pioneers of this community; we have safeguarded the present with a sincere study and survey of community conditions and problems; NOW LET US SAFEGUARD OUR FUTURE by DOING our part of making OUR community THE ONE IN TEN

James Rolph, Jr.

By D. E. O'KEEFE

The people of California hail with true delight the announcement of James Rolph, Jr. that he is to be a candidate for governor at the primary election next August. For months the voter has been waiting for this proclamation and now that it has been made, the admirers and supporters of the popular mayor are bucking on their armor for a battle, the like of which has never taken place in California in point of intensity, sincerity of purpose, aggressiveness and force. It promises to be a struggle to the finish. The campaign is to be carried to every corner of the state. No voter will be overlooked. The contest is to be memorable in the annals of the commonwealth.

San Mateo county will give James Rolph a sweeping vote for this county is his home. He maintains his summer residence within its confines. It is here that his leisure moments, away from the city's madding crowd, are spent amid the tall redwoods of his mountain home. Mayor Rolph has ever been the true friend of San Mateo county. When the Bayshore boulevard was advocated it was James Rolph who came to the fore and put it over; when the underpass at South San Francisco was spoken of it was James Rolph who again lent his influence and made the enterprise possible. He advocated the coast road down through Halfmoon Bay and that thoroughfare is soon to be a reality. These are only a few of the things he has done for the peninsula. Mayor Rolph has always urged a closer relationship with San Francisco and this county. That is why there is such a friendly feeling and co-operation between the two localities. His vote next August in this county will be tremendous. It will be given Mr. Rolph in appreciation of what he has done for its people.

Mayor Rolph for almost twenty years has presided over the destinies of San Francisco with honor and distinctive credit to the municipality. San Francisco arose from her ruins and has continued a program of reconstruction and magnificent public improvements. The extensive program has been carried on without the slightest suggestion of graft or breath of scandal, while the city has been enjoying the lowest tax rate of any metropolis in the United States. What has been accomplished for San Francisco Mr. Rolph will accomplish for California should he be elected and it looks now, at the beginning of the contest, that he will sweep the state next August.

Mr. Rolph has made an efficient mayor; he will make a good governor. In entering the campaign Mr. Rolph owes allegiance to no man or clique—free from political bossism; free from pre-election promises; and, if elected he will serve the length and breadth of his native state that service he will dedicate himself.

The Times-Gazette will give its unstinted support to Mr. Rolph with the hope that he will be chosen the next governor of our great state.

Longer Lives

Life expectancy in the United States is now fifty-eight years. Fifty years ago forty-three was the figure. So it will be seen that if children mind their ma, and husbands hold tight to the apron strings of their wives, that longevity may increase. In the middle ages the average duration of human life was only twenty-five years. But America is a wonderful country and after awhile most everybody may live a century or two—if they don't go

He won the Democratic nomination, but was prevented from making the race because of the state law that disqualifies a candidate who fails to win the nomination of his own party.

A lot of speculation is going on in state capitol corridors as to whether Governor Young or Pitts will be benefited by the Rolph candidacy. The Young forces insist that the campaign will quickly resolve itself into a wet-and-dry fight, and that the dries will naturally center on the dry candidate most likely to win. The Pitts proponents hold that Rolph's entry will merely split up the northern California vote and will affect only to a small degree the young prosecutor's stronghold in southern California.

Another source of gossip for the political observers is Former Governor Flend W. Richardson and what part he will play in the campaign. Richardson urged Pitts to get into the campaign, but it has since been reported that the two have broken off relations. Support to this belief is given by the fact that Richardson has not been active in behalf of Pitts' candidacy.

It is also reported that two prominent Richardson allies, F. J. O'Brien of Chico, former chairman of the state board of education under Richardson, and John A. McGilvray of Sacramento, director of the industrial relations during the Richardson regime, are both advocating the candidacy of Rolph.

And the Cat Came Back

Ward Week Sale Drawing Crowds

Hundreds of out-of-town shoppers coming to the city during the week of April 5 to 12, attracted by the announcement of the Ward Week sale, will prove the greatest stimulus to local industry of all kinds that has been known during the current year, was the prediction made yesterday by Geo. Moore, manager of the retail store of Montgomery Ward & Co.

"Judging by our experience in other cities, every enterprising merchant is the icy will profit by the coming of the crowds which will throng our city during the Ward Week sale," Mr. Moore said.

"The local store considers itself essentially a local organization, a cog in the wheel of local industry wherever it may have its branches. This April sale is launched in the hope of stimulating a general widespread interest in the business enterprise of our entire community."

"Many of the shoppers we expect to visit our city during the week of the sales are people who have never been here before. They come with the buying interest uppermost in their minds and represent a great opportunity to wide-awake business men of the community. Such a group of visitors as we will have circulating through our city during the week of April 5 to 12 will go far in increasing the good will of this community throughout the county.

"Business men here are already making preparations to take care of the hundreds of visitors, and it is the hope of the retail store of Montgomery Ward & Co. that the Ward Week sale will be the occasion of the inauguration of a new season of prosperity for every merchant in the city and for the community as a whole."

$5100 ASKED OF CITY FOR BOY'S INJURIES

The sum of $5400 is asked by Manuel Reposa Vierra, Five Points resident, of the city of Redwood City for injuries alleged to have been received by Vierra's son, George, aged 15, when one of the Mission bells on El Camino Real, at the corner of Redwood avenue, fell on the boy's foot last month. A claim in the above amount, filed through Attorney A. J. Stebbins, was read at the meeting of the city council Monday night.

The matter was referred to City Attorney Albert Mansfield for investigation. He will submit a report at the next meeting.

POLITICALLY SPEAKING

SACRAMENTO, April 10—(UP)—Mayor James Rolph, Jr., of San Francisco will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor at the state primary election in August.

He will run on a "wet" platform and will oppose the incumbent, Governor C. C. Young and Buron R. Pitts of Los Angeles, who has already announced himself as a candidate.

That the San Francisco mayor has definitely made up his mind to enter the race became certain this week. He has already laid plans to make a whirlwind campaign by air, thus adopting a method popularized by Pitts in filling speaking engagements.

As a northern Californian, Rolph has his choice of two announced candidates for lieutenant governor as his running-mate from southern California. These are Former State Senator Harry Chamberlain of Los Angeles and Senator Frank F. Merriam of Long Beach.

It will not be Merriam's first try at the nomination for lieutenant governor, nor will it be Rolph's first try at the gubernatorial nomination. Merriam ran against Pitts in 1926 and was defeated. He is now chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, and served as a member of the assembly for five years before his election to the senate two years ago.

Rolph made a hard battle to win the nomination for governor against William D. Stephens in 1918. Rolph polled 146,990 votes to 168,942 for Stephens. Considering the fact that there was a big field of candidates for the Republican nomination, Rolph's showing was considered remarkable.

Beaten by approximately 22,000 votes, Rolph carried Alameda, Alameda, Contra Costa, Humboldt, Marin, Napa, Nevada, Placer, Sacramento, San Benito, San Francisco, Sonoma, San Joaquin, San Luis Obispo, San Mateo and Yuba counties.

Why not plan an all-electric kitchen?

The electric range cooks automatically

A beautiful electric range harmonizes with any decorative idea you have for your kitchen. The cleanliness of the electric range keeps your kitchen immaculate.

And how the electric range improves cooking! Delicious food cooks automatically without you "watching" in the kitchen.

The new electric range is speedy. Improved cooking elements make electric cooking as fast as gas cooking.

Why not come in and see the beautiful, new porcelain enameled electric ranges at our office?

All the hot water you want—at a turn of the faucet

What could be finer than an all-electric kitchen?—with its modern electric range and an automatic electric water heater.

The electric water heater keeps an abundant supply of hot water ready for instant use, day and night.

An electric water heater, when used with an electric range, heats water for one-third to one-half of a cent per gallon! So little to pay for this modern comfort. And a clean kitchen.

Why not also see the electric water heaters at our office? There are many models to choose from.

WESTERN PACIFIC REFUSES PLAN TO COMPROMISE PLEA

Confidence is being expressed by civic leaders throughout the peninsula area that the Western Pacific Railroad will be successful in its petition to the Interstate Commerce Commission for a permit to construct a line along the peninsula from its present lines at Niles to San Francisco. The hearing on the application was brought to a dramatic conclusion in San Francisco Saturday before Examiner H. C. Davis of the Interstate Commerce Commission, when the Western Pacific flatly refused to accept the offer of the Southern Pacific Company to route freight trains over the Southern Pacific lines into San Francisco.

The refusal of the Western Pacific Company to accept the offer of the Southern Pacific was made by President Adams of the former line. In refusing the compromise agreement, President Adams stated the objections of his line to the proposed compromise under five heads as follows:

"1. It definitely, and probably finally, excludes the Peninsula industrial area from the benefits of railroad competition, which their representatives have testified is so important to the attainment of the development of which that district is developed.

"2. It prevents the accomplishment of the full measure of improvement in service which would be attained by the construction of lines as applied for.

"3. It definitely excludes the Western Pacific from all possible opportunity to assist in the development of the important industrial area along the Peninsula, or participate in the benefits of such development.

"4. It prevents the Western Pacific from attaining the benefits of additional traffic in the San Francisco switching district which would follow the improvement of service from the construction of the proposed line.

"5. It would result in turning one of the most important items of Western Pacific over to the absolute control of its principal competitor, entering or leaving the terminal where interruption or delay would most seriously interfere with the accomplishment of scheduled movement of the traffic."

It was suggested by Chief Engineer A. J. Mott of the State Railroad Commission, after C. E. Duffy, counsel for the Santa Fe, had enquired concerning the availability of the new track to the Santa Fe, that the proposed line be used as an open line for freight transportation.

In this regard President Adams of the Western Pacific stated:

"In the event that the Interstate Commerce Commission grants a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the construction and operation of the proposed line of railroad from a point in San Francisco via Redwood City to Niles, the applicant will have no objection to the insertion in the order of the commission, in the event that the commission deems the same desirable, a condition to the effect that the applicant upon demand therefor shall grant upon equitable terms to any other trunk line railroad or railroad of the proposed new line to the extent deemed necessary by such trunk line railroad or railroads to reach its or their terminals in the city and county of San Francisco. Applicant, however, will desire to be understood with regard to the carrying out effect of any such condition that under such arrangement the tenant line will have no right of access to applicant's station, industry, or yard facilities."

The hearing before the Interstate Railroad Commission began in the St. Francis hotel in San Francisco last Tuesday morning. The Western Pacific proposed the construction of a line down the Peninsula at an estimated cost of $7,997,000. This line would be east of the Southern Pacific tracks the entire distance and would serve the rapidly developing industrial section of this county. The Western Pacific contemplates this extension of its service it states, because it will be a necessary link in the Great Northern-Western Pacific junction, now before the Interstate Commerce Commission. It will provide the Western Pacific with a through all-rail line into San Francisco.

It will furnish direct connections between San Francisco and the great industrial area in San Mateo county.

These reasons, it is maintained, make the new line a matter of public necessity and convenience. The lack of this service, it is claimed, has caused the San Francisco industrial area and those of Peninsula communities to lag in comparison to those of communities served by competing rail lines.

Benefits Seen
The Western Pacific has been backed in its petition for a Peninsula line by the board of supervisors, the city council of practically every city in the county, and chambers of commerce and other civic organizations throughout the county.

If this line is successful in securing its permit, it is the belief of the people of San Mateo county, that a great industrial development will follow. At the hearing before the commission, Philip A. Haven, representing the Belle Haven property here, stated that if the Western Pacific is granted its permit, that his concern expects to develop a $100,000,000 port project on the bay at Redwood City. This would be equal to the development at San Pedro.

In this connection Daniel R. Stafford, local agent for the Belle Haven Corporation, stated that his concern has been handicapped in making its fact that there is no competitive rail service. One concern, the Pittsburgh Glass Company, would have established a plant here employing 1500 men, but for the fact that it is against their policy to establish a plant where there is service by only one railroad. All other conditions here were considered ideal by this concern.

Just north of the Belle Haven property is Redwood City's municipal harbor, a development which will take new impetus from the development of bay shipping and waterfront growth.

Another major development in southern San Mateo county which will take on new life through the industrial development which will follow in the wake of the construction of the new railroad is the Port San Francisco project. This $4,000,000 project involving 4000 acres of waterfront land between Redwood City and Belmont, is already underway. The Port San Francisco project is now in the hands of the

You are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint of plaintiff, filed with the Clerk of the above-entitled Court and County, within three months after the first publication of this summons, and to set forth what interest, if any, you have in or upon that certain real property or any part thereof situated in the County of San Mateo, State of California, and particularly described as follows:

Beginning at a point where the division fence line between properties formerly owned by John Parrott and Walter S. Hobart intersects the southerly line of the main county road of the County of San Mateo, also known as State Highway and as El Camino Real, said point being the most northerly corner of the lands formerly owned by Walter S. Hobart; thence on and along said division fence line South 43° 15' East 84.7 feet 6 inches to the extreme southerly point of the northwesterly boundary line of those certain lands conveyed to Walter S. Hobart and Hannah Hobart, his wife, by W. A. Clark by deed dated April 8, 1924 and recorded April 15, 1924, in San Mateo County Records; thence South 43° 15' East 138.6 feet; thence South 55° 30' East 8.30 chains; thence South 50° 45' West 3.32 chains; thence South 37° 15' West 10.09 chains to a point, which point is marked with an iron monument marked "P.2" set in concrete, which point is common to the properties then formerly owned by A. M. Parrott, Celia Clark and Spring Valley Water Company, a corporation, and more particularly described in that certain deed between Spring Valley Water Company, a corporation, and the County of San Mateo, dated October 4, 1929, and recorded October 16, 1929, in Liber 43 of Official Records at the County of San Mateo; thence along a fence line as it exists on this date South 2° 13' East 22.48 feet to a fence post marked "P.4"; thence South 13° 28' East 75.40 feet to a fence post marked "P.4"; thence South 27° 43' East 191.00 feet to a fence post marked "P.5"; thence South 23° 58' East 12.10 feet to a fence post marked "P.6"; thence South 18° 58' East 193.50 feet to a fence post marked "P.7"; thence South 20° 48' East 415.40 feet to a fence post marked "P.8"; thence South 15° 09' East 345.50 feet to a fence post marked "P.9"; thence South 14° 39' East 733.52 feet to a fence post marked "P.11"; thence South 39° 15' East 147.70 feet to a fence post marked "P.12"; set at a point common to the properties now or formerly owned by Celia Clark, P. B. Casia and the Spring Valley Water Company, a corporation; thence North 43° 15' East 84.7 feet to the point of beginning of these certain lands conveyed to Walter S. Hobart, an unmarried man, and Celia Clark, by deed dated April 9, 1914, and recorded June 2, 1919, in Liber 282 of deeds at page 231, San Mateo County Records; thence North 43° 15' East 152.15 feet to a point, which point is the most northerly corner of the lands of the San Mateo City Homestead Association as shown on the map entitled "Lots of the San Mateo City Homestead Association" filed February 20, 1922 in the office of the Recorder of San Mateo County in Book A of Maps at page 4, and copied in Book 1 of Maps page 46; thence South 80° 01' West 269 feet; North 37° 30' East 587.80 feet; thence North 42° 6' East 147.70 feet and North 77° 24' East 163 feet to the most westerly corner of the lands conveyed by Charles W. Clark by deed dated March 7, 1903 and recorded May 13, 1909 in Liber 164 of deeds at page 189, San Mateo County Records; thence North 67° 34' East 124.7 feet and 4 inches to the most westerly corner of that certain tract of land containing 1000 square feet, running thence along the southerly boundary line of said tract of land containing 1000 square feet, North 43° 07' East 51 feet to the point of beginning of said tract of land containing 1000 square feet said tract of land being also the most easterly corner of the lands conveyed by Charles W. Clark by deed dated March 7, 1903 and recorded May 13, 1909 in Liber 164 of deeds at page 189 above referred to running thence north 7° 15' East 436.5 feet to the southerly line of the main county road thence North 41° 28' West 135 feet to the point of beginning.

THEREOUT the following parcels of land:

BEGINNING at a point on a line drawn parallel with and distant 30.00 feet Southwesterly measured at right angles to the Southwesterly line of the County Road known as El Camino Real, distant on said parallel line South 41° 28' East 527.03 feet (the bearing of said Southwesterly line being called South 41° 28' East for purposes of this description) from the Southerly line of that certain roadway known as Cemetery Lane, as said roadway is particularly shown on a map of the County of San Mateo, California, filed in the office of the Recorder of San Mateo County, dated May 28, 1928, and recorded August 8, 1928, in Liber 39 of Deeds at page 207 and running thence from the point of beginning South 28° 52' West 1126.01 feet; thence parallel with said Southwesterly line of said line parallel with and distant 30.00 feet Southwesterly from the Southwesterly line of said County Road; thence along said parallel line North 41° 28' West 562.75 feet to the point of beginning and containing 14.758 acres, more or less.

ALSO BEGINNING at a point on the Southwesterly line of the County Road known as El Camino Real distant thereon South 41° 28' East 526.97 feet from the South easterly line of that certain roadway known as Cemetery Lane particularly referred to in that certain Deed from Abby M. Parrott to the Roman Catholic Archbishop of San Francisco, a corporation sole, by Deed dated May 28, 1928 and recorded August 8, 1928, in Liber 39 of Deeds at page 207 and running thence from the point of beginning South 28° 52' West 1126.01 feet; thence parallel with said Southwesterly line of said line parallel with and distant 30.00 feet Southwesterly from the Southwesterly line of said County Road; thence along said parallel line North 41° 28' West 562.75 feet to the point of beginning and containing 14.758 acres, more or less.

NEED SOMETHING BESIDES HITTING

Figures Show Big Punch Doesn't Win Flag.

Base hits, especially home runs, may be as decisive as any factor in modern big league baseball, but the National league averages for 1929 reveal conclusively that something besides the big punch is needed to win pennants or even get into the first division.

The Phillies led the circuit in hitting last season with the remarkable average of 300, seven points better than either Pittsburgh or Chicago, but the Phils finished no better than fifth. Their pitching staff, or rather the lack of it, was the answer to where Burt Shotton's men finished.

The Phils pounded out 153 home runs, as compared with 140 for the clouting Cubs. This mark was only five short of the major league record of 158, set by the Yankees in 1927.

Only four pitchers in the American league in 1929 held opposing teams to a batting average of .200 or less. They were George Earnshaw, Edward Wells, Fred Marberry and George (Rube) Walberg. Earnshaw held opponents to .241 and that is top mark for the American league in 1929. Robert Moses Grove, with .262, and George Pugsan, of New York, and Jack Russell, of Boston, each with .264, were close by.

When you add walks to hits and divide the total by times at bat plus walks, you discover that the leading pitcher in the league last year was the giant Marberry. Thomas, of Chicago, ranks second; Pugsan third and Huddlin, of Cleveland, is fourth.

Golf punts, we hear, are to be even more stunning this season than last. Before the summer is done we expect to refer several times to nuptials fours.

Gene Tunney, an extremely conscientious, methodical, painstaking boxer, admits that he has fouled opponents and been fouled by them. He says that "every boxer is fouled."

Practically every bout sees fouls committed. That does not justify claims of fouls. Few are intentional.

A real boxer accepts fouls in a spirit of give and take, knowing that in the hurly-burly of battle all sorts of accidents can make for foul blows. Only the weak sisters seek sanctuary behind a claim of foul except when incapacitated.

In 1930 Navy will play both Ohio State and Notre Dame in the West, two games in Philadelphia and two in Baltimore.

"Keep your eyes on the White Sox." That is the opinion of Connie Mack, while making an interesting observation in the course of a rambling discourse on the circuit over which he holds sway for the first time in fifteen years.

"Don't misunderstand me," said the veteran of every American league race, "I am not picking them to finish first or even second. But under Donie Bush the White Sox are bound to be the most improved ball club in our circuit. They are likely to have a lot to say before September rolls around."

Ruth gets a larger salary although his home runs last season were under his record mark. They may be fixing the wages by the waist measure.

Arrangements have been completed for a football game to be played between the Cuban Cadet school and the United States Military academy freshmen at West Point, N. Y., on Thanksgiving Day. Gen. Alberto Herrera, chief of staff of the Cuban army, has announced.

The contest was said to have been suggested by Maj. Joseph O'Hare, military attaché of the United States embassy. It will be the first game between the two institutions. The Cuban Cadet school has not had a football team, but will begin formation of a squad immediately.

John McGraw has advanced a scheme which, if put into effect in both major leagues, will, he thinks, go a long way toward eliminating the annual annoyance caused by ball players refusing to sign their contracts early and failing to report for the entire spring training period.

The manager of the Giants would extend the ball players' salary over eight months each year instead of six, so that they would begin to earn their pay on March 1, not on the opening day of the championship season, as now is the case.

Under the proposed McGraw method the bimonthly check drawn by each player would not be as heavy as that which is handed once every two weeks under the present system, but he would have more pay days.

Sizing Big League BASEBALL

By BILLY EVANS
Sports writer, Big League Umpire and General Manager of the Cleveland Indians

I have seen Ed Walsh, greatest of all spitballers, a real "iron man," pitch many remarkable ball games. I recall a no-hit game he pitched against Boston for Chicago, the only man to reach first base getting a base on balls. The count was three balls and two strikes on the batter, when I walked him. I was much relieved when the fourth ball was so wide of the plate there could be no doubt as to how it should be called. It was a ticklish situation for me.

However, the greatest exhibition of pitching I ever saw Walsh give was crammed into one crucial ninth inning. Walsh has since told me that he virtually ended his major league career as a star in that one inning. Something snapped in his arm as he pitched the final strike of the game. His arm went lame. Despite all kinds of medical attention it never regained its strength. He pitched some good balls but only spasmodically.

But to get back to that all important ninth inning, Chicago was playing at St. Louis in the opening game of the season. Bill Lange was the Chicago pitcher. For seven innings he went along in fine style, holding a one-run margin. In the eighth he wobbled but managed to escape unharmed. It was evident, however, that he was weakening fast.

It was a cold day. The Chicago reserves were huddled together on the bench, bundled up in their sweaters, trying to keep warm. Despite the fact that Lange was wavering it was hoped he would be able to finish the game.

Lange started the ninth inning badly, walking the first batsman on four pitched balls. Two more passes and the sacks were loaded; defeat for Chicago was imminent. Then I heard one of the Chicago players yell time. Looking toward the Chicago bench I saw Ed Walsh place a slippery elm tablet in his mouth and take a drink of water. Walsh, a spitball pitcher, used slippery elm to increase the flow of saliva, thereby helping him in making the ball break more deceptively. Then he started for the pitcher's box, removing his sweater as he went, handing it to Lange, as that player walked out of the box.

Swinging his arm around in a circle to loosen it up, then throwing the five balls permitted a relief pitcher, Walsh settled down to his work.

Walsh threw just ten balls in that inning to retire the three St. Louis batters on strikes. At seven of his pitches, the opposing hitters swung and missed, two were called strikes and one a ball. No so much as a foul was made off his delivery.

Absolutely cold, with the bases filled, no one out and working on a one-run margin, Walsh retired three of the best hitters of the St. Louis club on strikes. Walsh, as was his custom, once noting Lange in distress, had not waited for anybody to tell him to go to the rescue. He took command of the situation himself.

Willingness to work at all times and under all conditions soon told on even a pitcher with so powerful a physique as Walsh. He paid the penalty by shortening his big league career at least five years.

Today there are two Ed Walshes on the Chicago club. One is Ed, senior, now a White Sox coach. The other is Ed, Jr., a chip off the old block. He looks as a real prospect but I seriously doubt if he ever soars to the heights, reached by his illustrious "Dad." Pitchers like Ed Walsh and Walter Johnson are the decided exception.

Here's One All-American Art Shires Picked Right

Lena Blackburne, who was the manager of the Chicago White Sox last year, admits there are some things about Art Shires, baseball's "bad boy," that he doesn't like. But Lena gives the clowning firstsacker credit for one bit of repartee.

"Lee Durocher, the former New York Yankee infielder, is a jockey on the ball field," said Lena. "He chatters away all the time and it becomes very tiresome. One day we were playing in New York and the Yankees had men on bases where a hit would just about ruin the ball game for the Sox. Durocher approached the plate.

"Well, well, look who's here!" shouted Shires. "Now we're out of danger. Is the all-American out?" And this story ends as it should—Durocher popped up a fly and the Yankees did not score.

A Sour Stomach

In the same time it takes a dose of soda to bring a little temporary relief of gas and sour stomach, Phillips Milk of Magnesia has acidity completely checked, and the digestive organs all tranquilized. Once you have tried this form of relief you will cease to worry about your diet and experience a new freedom in eating.

This pleasant preparation is just as good for children, too. Use it whenever coated tongue or field breath signals need of a sweetener. Physicians will tell you that every spoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Get the genuine, the name Phillips is important. Imitations do not act the same!

Famous Railroad Bridge
The hanging bridge of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad was designed and built by C. Shaler Smith in 1879. By placing the bridge close to one wall it was possible to support the floor system on that side on a bench wall and one girder span. But on the other side three girder spans were used, supported by cast-iron hangers suspended from two "A" frames, supported from the two sides of the gorge. This bridge is situated in Royal gorge, near Canon City, Colo.

Don't neglect a COLD

DISTRESSING cold in chest or throat—that so often leads to something serious—generally responds to good old Musterole with the first application. Should be more effective if used once every hour for five hours. Working like the trained hands of a masseur, this famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other helpful ingredients brings relief naturally. It penetrates and stimulates blood circulation, helps to draw out infection and pain. Used by millions for 20 years. Recommended by doctors and nurses. Keep Musterole handy—jars and tubes. To Mothers—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

American Jewish Farmers
The Jewish Agricultural society has estimated that there are 80,000 Jewish farmers operating a million acres of farm land in the United States. It is largely due to the efforts of this organization that the number is so large. Thirty years ago, at the time of its inception, there were barely a thousand Jews on American farms. The agricultural society not only offers scientific advice, but lends money and assists the farmers in many instances in securing a suitable location.

City Council In Session Of Routine Business

All the members of the city council were present at the regular meeting Tuesday evening. It was a very short session, only routine business being transacted.

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company in a communication notified the council that according to the lower rate schedule for street lighting the city would save $166 a year. The rate was recently established by the company.

The Peninsula Paving Company informed the council that it had employed Albert Mansfield to defend the injunction suit against the council and asked that he be associated with Mr. Whitworth in the proceedings. Mr. Whitworth accepted the offer, saying that he would be pleased to work with Mr. Mansfield in the matter. The city attorney said the case was up before the Superior Court at San Jose this morning to modify the injunction so that the suit could be taken up at once but the judge denied the motion. The case will be heard on Monday next. The motion to dismiss the action was also denied.

D. E. O'Keefe agreed to supply a flag for election day. It will be displayed in front of the city hall.

After passing a large number of bills the council adjourned to meet April 15 to canvass the returns of the election.

And Politics Were Ever Thus: Monday Will Decide

The campaign for city officials is coming to a close. The contest next Monday will decide issues that have been fought to a finish in the campaign. Much bitterness has been injected into it that might have been avoided.

The Citizens' League, with a big membership, has been active in the canvass and for weeks has been holding meetings and perfecting its organization. The league opposes the present administration. It is backing the aspirations of E. J. Crane, W. E. Dale and Alfred H. Anderson. Should these men be elected trustees there is likely to be a complete change in the personnel of the council. Mr. Crane is a pioneer of Menlo Park and a former postmaster. Dale is a member of the present council, always voting with W. H. Weeden in the minority. Anderson is a Stanford Park resident, and is employed as an engineer at Stanford University. Those opposed to the policies of the present city administration are supporting these three candidates.

Mayor J. C. Ellis is seeking reelection to the council and asks an endorsement of his administration. He has consistently voted with the majority. Frank McH. Campbell, the local auto camp manager, is seeking election on the platform of the present administration and will make no change in the personnel of the city government should he be elected. He is an administration candidate.

There are three independent candidates, John B. Glunz, a local contractor, and a member of the Menlo Park Sanitary Board; Alexander Walker, a member of the present council, who has voted with the majority until recently when he broke from the administration; J. J. Harwood, real estate dealer and city building inspector, and a former member of the council. These three men have no organization and are
